NO PRECEDENT SET BY SENATE VOTE ON SMITH

Issue in Case Differs from Others Because Probe
Has Been Started
COMMITTEE MUST ACT
To Decide Effect of Excessive
Expenditure on Seating
Candidate

Washington — Although the vote of the senate to refuse the qualifying oath to Colonel Smith of Illinois is unusual, it can hardly be regarded as a precedent for future cases. The senate did not decline the oath to Senator-elect Gould of Maine but permitted him to qualify and now is investigating the charges. The issue in the Smith case is different because the senate had already investigated the charges against Colonel Smith just as it has done exhaustively in the case of Senator-elect Vane of Pennsylvania.

Having before it a report from one committee condemning excessive expenditure in a campaign the question that the senate really decided was what effect such a report has or shall have on the administration of the qualifying oath to individuals who either are elected or appointed.

ACTION IS FORMALITY
The reference of the Smith case to the committee on privileges and elections is a formality. It is that committee which recommends whether a man shall or shall not be seated. So the vote of the senate on Thursday is significant in that it is the first effect of the investigation conducted during the last campaign.

Should a man come to the senate door with credentials of election in his hand, he has been elected but of which there has been no investigation, the chances are the oath would be administered and the matter referred to the committee on privileges and elections for investigation. The action in the Smith case is due to the fact that most of the members of the senate have been thoroughly investigated and they did not wish to use up the senate's time with extensive hearings or further debate.

VOTE ON ISSUE
The verdict indicated is a refusal of a seat to Colonel Smith by the senate vote that was taken Thursday. Several voted to administer the oath and investigate afterward who on the final report might not vote to seat. In any event the right of Colonel Smith to a seat in this congress will have been denied in a few days. There is nothing to prevent the governor of Illinois from appointing another person to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McKinley for the term expiring on March of this year. Then Colonel Smith, who has been elected to take office on March 5 if the senate should be in session, or to take a seat in the December session this year, would have the right to appear before the new congress with credentials of election. The Senate would be republican by a narrow margin of one and it is conceded that Colonel Smith is a convert to the republican cause and that he has a great deal to gain by prolonging the controversy, especially because prejudice runs high at this time because of the Reed investigating committee report.

DENIES RIGHT OF SENATORS TO BAR SMITH

Illinois Attorney General Protests Action to Exclude Appointee

Washington, D. C. — (AP) — Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois, said in a formal statement Saturday that he concedes the senate "no right" to exclude Frank L. Smith, senator-designate of Illinois, from taking the oath of office.

"I am now contending and shall earnestly and vigorously continue to contend," Mr. Carlstrom said, "for the right of the state to have Colonel Smith seated in the United States senate."

"Under the fact of the case we concede no right to exclude him, and with full confidence in the personal character and integrity of Colonel Smith and his capacity and ability to credibly represent Illinois as one of its representatives in the United States senate, I shall stand by the rights of the state and am in Washington before the committee on privileges and elections of the United States senate in pursuance of that determination."

TO CONSIDER EVIDENCE
The case of Senator-designate Smith of Illinois, will be considered on the basis of evidence adduced by the senate campaign funds committee, it was decided Saturday by the senate privileges and election committee.

Hearings will be started next Saturday at which time Smith, whose credentials were referred to the committee Friday will present his argument through counsel. They will contend that even if Smith did accept contributions in his primary campaign from public utilities, as brought out in the campaign fund committee report, this should not operate as a bar to his being seated under appointment from Governor Small to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator William B. McKinley. Chairman Ernest said that if this contention should be carried by the committee, hearings then would proceed with Smith, former chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission given full opportunity to present additional evidence.

Sheriff Brooker stated that he bases his action on provisions in the Severson law.

12 Troopers Face Murder Charge In Woman's Death

Fleming, N. J. — (AP) — As the result of the death of a woman during an all night "bottle party" at a lonely farmhouse in the town of Jutland, 12 state troopers were held Saturday on charges of murder. Two troopers and two agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were accused as accessories. The battle occurred during investigation of a complaint by the society that cattle were under-fed.

The warrants were issued Friday night after a coroner's jury found that Miss Beatrice Meany, mortally dead in an unwarranted, atrocious and unlawful attack on the home of her brother-in-law, Miss Meany and her brothers, Timothy and James, barricaded themselves in the house, after James had been shot in one knee by a trooper.

The 12 troopers accused testified they fired their guns during the 12-hour siege, during which gas bombs were used. Twenty-four troopers were present.

PEACHES' SUIT TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Quiet Little Country Town Buzzes With Activity Preparing for Hearing

Carmel, N. Y. — (AP) — This normally quiet little country town was humming with activity Saturday as preparations were being completed for the opening on Monday of the separation suit brought by Edward W. Browning, wealthy realtor, against his 16-year-old bride, Frances (Peaches) Jeanne Browning. Every available room was taken days ago by the scores of newspapermen, court attaches, lawyers and others. Restaurants are planning to reap a harvest. Prices on menus have soared the last few days.

Mr. Browning will stay at a hotel during the trial, while Mrs. Browning plans to commute from New York.

SEEK MISSING WOMAN; HOLD MADISON MAN

Bond Dealer Admits Bigamy, Sheriff Says — Doesn't Know Where Wife Is

Mauston — (AP) — With William Coffey, 48, Madison, bond dealer, held in the Juncos-co jail here after confessing that he had contracted a bigamous marriage with Mrs. Mattie Sherman Hales, 53, a widow, formerly of La Crosse, county authorities Saturday began a search for the woman who was last seen by relatives at Rockford, Ill., shortly after she became the "bride" of Coffey last September.

Coffey, held on a forged charge preferred by Ernest Reser, a brother-in-law of the woman, after Coffey had endeavored to vote stock held by his second wife in the Elroy service Oil company at Elroy, late Friday night, confessed, according to Sheriff Loyal Wright, that he had a wife and three children at Madison, at the time he wed Mrs. Hales.

He also confessed, Sheriff Wright said, that he had kept up a flow of letters to relatives of Mrs. Hales and signed them with a rubber stamp bearing her signature.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY
Coffey pleaded not guilty when arraigned on the forged charge and was remanded to the county jail. Questioned by District Attorney Robert Clark as to the whereabouts of the second wife, Coffey said that after their marriage he took her to Ashville, N. C., where she turned over her stocks and bonds to him and left him. Relatives at Rockford, including Mrs. Sarah Sherman, the woman's mother, told county authorities that Coffey and the missing woman came to Rockford to follow their marriage, and left there to go to Dubuque, Ia., where Coffey said he was to establish business headquarters. Letters from Hales followed, the first written in pen, and then typewritten letters, it was reported to investigators. These aroused suspicion and when handwriting experts were called in it was ascertained that signature was not genuine, according to charges made to county authorities here by the relatives of the woman.

Coffey, after his trip to Dubuque, returned to his home and family at Madison, where Friday night a rubber stamp, several articles of woman's apparel and some jewelry were found in his automobile by Madison police, who made the search at the request of county authorities. It was a complete disclosure had been made that Coffey confessed he had faked the woman's signature to letters.

MARRIED AT WINONA
Mrs. Hales, who was employed as a buyer at a La Crosse store, met Coffey when he was on a long selling trip to that city, relatives told District Attorney Clark. They were married at Winona.

As reported the bill would set up a federal farm board which would use a federal appropriation of $250,000,000, to handle the surplus of wheat, corn, rice, cotton and swine.

The federal appropriation would be reimbursed by the collection of an equalization fee on each commodity at the processing point.

Auto Pilot Claims Gang Forced Him To Thievery

Hammond, Ind. — (AP) — The story of the serial numbers by which they could be identified, under constant threat of death if he refused. Then Joe Thomas, racing pilot, known on midwestern tracks, has put federal authorities on the trail of an outlaw gang believed to number 30 men and to have handled hundreds of stolen cars.

Death as an alternative compelled him to turn his technical skill to unlawful tasks and meanwhile he was required to contribute to the gang funds, Thomas said, but when his wife's life was threatened he determined to risk his own and expose the gang. He agreed to have a demanded $500 at his home Friday and when eight men appeared they were seized by officers in hiding.

Thomas said he had served them for four months, filing from stolen cars.

The racer blamed a Samaritan act for his delivery into the power of his captors, explaining that his servitude began after he had loaned a pair of his automobile license plates to a man who had been calling on the Thomas serving girl. The man, Joe Placante, was arrested and in tracing his stolen car Thomas was involved.

Both were acquitted when tried because, Thomas said, the prosecuting witness was intimidated and it was through the acquittal that the extortioners obtained a hold on their victim.

Gratitude Prompted Him To Sell Ford Co. Shares

Detroit, Mich. — (AP) — Gratitude prompted John W. Anderson to surrender his holdings in the Ford Motor Co., to Henry Ford at a comparatively low price, when the latter sought control of the organization in 1919, according to testimony presented at the hearing of the government tax case here.

Anderson, one of the original stockholders of the concern, testifying for the defense Friday asserted that although he could have obtained an additional $2,500,000 seemingly for the asking, he decided not to appear to "holdup" the manufacturer and accepted an offer he considered low.

The defense, through Anderson's testimony, was attempting to show that the original valuation of $9,489,344 a share set on the stock as of 1913 by the internal revenue department was not too high. The government contends it lost approximately $20,000,000 in taxes on profits accruing from sale as the result of the original valuation. The correct 1913 valuation, it holds, was $5,547,644 a share. No session was held Saturday with the hearing to be resumed Monday.

BLIZZARD RAGES AT EMPRESS' FUNERAL

Royalty of Belgium Present at Rites for Former Ruler in Mexico

Brussels — (AP) — The last tragic scene in the history of Charlotte, "mad empress" of Mexico, befell the opera-like story of her life.

A heavy blizzard raged during the funeral service Saturday at Bouchout castle, where she had lived most of the 60 years since the collapse of the Mexican empire under her husband, the Archduke Maximilian of Austria.

The ceremony at the castle, attended by Charlotte's nephews, King Albert, Queen Elizabeth, the duke of Brabant (Crown Prince Leopold), officials and Charlotte's house servants, was strictly private.

After prayers offered by the parochial clergy of Meyseville village, the coffin, covered with the Mexican and Belgian flags, was placed in a hearse, while the cavalry escort stood at salute and the crowd bared their heads in the keen wind.

CALL MORE WITNESSES IN NORRIS MURDER CASE

Austin, Texas — (AP) — More state witnesses had been summoned Saturday for rebuttal testimony at the murder trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, who testified in district court here Friday that he had killed Dexter E. Chippis when the lumberman threatened him in the study of the North Worth Baptist church July 17, last.

Displaying so much emotion that at times he appeared scarcely able to continue his story, Dr. Norris required most of the day to tell of Chippis' visit. Prosecution counsel indicated they would complete examination of witnesses Saturday, which would permit arguments to start Monday.

PREPARING TO ACT AGAINST NEW OUTBREAK

1,000 Americans and Britons Evacuate Hankow, Admiral Williams States

RIOTING IN SHANGHAI

Police Quell Disturbances After Successful Strike of Tramway Workers

Washington, D. C. — (AP) — White Americans and other foreigners in China are retreating in increasing numbers from the zones of danger created by the anti-Christian disturbances, several arms of the United States government are reaching out to afford its nationals protection against further serious outbreaks.

A detachment of American marines is enroute to the Philippine islands to await possible emergency call. American Minister MacMurray, backtracking to Peking, his trip to Washington having been cancelled by Secretary Kellogg, and a destroyer is rushing from Shanghai to Foochow to take the place of the Pillsbury, which has taken more than sixty American refugees, mostly women and children, from that disturbed area to Manila.

1,000 FOREIGNERS LEAVE
Admiral Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet now at Shanghai with his flagship, the cruiser Pittsburg, reports the evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from interior China is proceeding rapidly. With Peking news advices tell of 1,000 Americans and British leaving Hankow, where the British concession was stormed early last month and its administration taken over by nationalist government authorities.

Secretary Kellogg's action in ordering the Pillsbury back to 42 Peking after he had reached Korean port on his way to Washington, to talk over the Chinese situation was explained at the White House Friday as being due to the necessity, for strengthening means of protection for American missionaries and other citizens of this country in China the full protection they are entitled to.

COOLIDGE STAND
President Coolidge doubts that the central government at Peking is in a position to guarantee full protection to foreigners. In view of the recent developments in China, he believes there are a conglomeration of factions contending for power.

On the other hand, he feels the United States is abiding in good faith, by all the provisions of its treaties with China, and thinks the steps now being taken are necessary to protect American missionaries and other citizens of this country in China the full protection they are entitled to.

RIOTING IN SHANGHAI
Shanghai — (AP) — Rioting broke out in Shanghai, principal refuge of foreigners in China during a parade of conductors and motormen by the municipal tramway company Saturday night, but was put down by the police of the international settlement with only a score or more of injuries to the tramway workers and a few bruises among the officers participating among the injuries as serious.

The melee took place on Nanking road, the Broadway of Shanghai in the heart of the city, during the evening rush hour. The police used their batons freely, but were careful not to resort to direct arm to arm use of bricks and stones. They featured the offensive of the tramway workers.

The clash came at the end of a week of labor troubles. There has been a more tense undercurrent in the situation, apparently as the result of activities of agitators. The parade was staged by the tramway workers to celebrate their victory in a two day strike. They won several concessions from the company.

DEMOCRACY NEEDS NEW STUDENT TYPE, FRANZKE BELIEVES

Scores Colleges for Tolerating Things Condemned Elsewhere

"A perfected Lawrence democracy must emerge from the student group, upon the political philosophy of the students it must ever be sustained," Prof. A. L. Franzke of Lawrence college, said in a talk on self-government before the student body at convention services in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Democracy will never come to a nation, he said, until it comes to a college. It is a college which has its inception in the minds of two or three students and bears the signatures of many who signed merely because they had no good reason for refusing. But, it will come "after we have evolved a philosophy which will express itself in our living together like young men and women who have a conception of the responsibilities of citizenship who do right because they choose to do right, who desire to train themselves, not to be trained, to fill the positions of trust and responsibility of democracy for which college men and women must train themselves if democracy is to survive."

"It cannot come in a week, a month or a year," the speaker continued. "We cannot change our philosophy in a month or two, but we must begin now if we want it in a year or two."

"Such a philosophy and its resultant self-government can arise only under the guidance of student leaders who will make self-government the one and only extra-curricular activity in their college careers, who may be abused for a while because they would point to corruption and tread on the toes of errand boys and found in the eyes of the leaders of the student body, but who will succeed in their policy, because the beacon lights of a government."

"The stability of a government depends upon the degree to which the principles, attitudes, and ideals of a people are in harmony with the principles and ideals upon which the government rests. When the government fails we must look for the reason in this principle," Mr. Franzke maintained.

The speaker used as an example of this principle "the miracle of the recent German Empire. The chief explanation of the power of Germany at the opening of the greater preparedness, more trained men and greater resources organized into a gigantic machine of war. As war progressed, this explanation did not satisfy. Nation after nation joined the allied cause and Germany lost the war. Not because of any weakness within her economic or governmental structure, but because of the overwhelming odds in terms of wealth, munitions, men and food that men arrayed against her."

PROVED BY GERMANY

"The enduring strength of that little nation holding her lines against all of the supposedly civilized world and a large portion of the admittedly uncivilized world, became one of the greatest of World war. But if the world looked for an explanation of this great strength and they found it in the philosophy of the German people and they traced that philosophy to its origin in the German college or university."

There is much evidence put forth by scholars today of the failure of democracy, Mr. Franzke said. The success of democracy has been debated by Oxford, Cambridge, and Sidney universities and Occidental college. Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn of the University of Wisconsin has said, "Democracy is a self-evident failure, a delusion, a gospel, a venture." Dr. Governor Frank O.enden has said, "The republican government is on the defensive the world over." "American democracy is on the brink of failure." Other men and instances were quoted by Mr. Franzke, who continued, "I am not expressing the opinion that democracy or self government in America has failed, but merely calling attention to the most significant fact that there must be a great mass of impressive evidence pointing in that direction."

"If democracy has failed in part, where must we turn to find the explanation for that failure? Can we help being interested in speculating upon what our possible contribution may be to the evidence of that failure of self-government, or upon what we may be able to do to insure the continued stability of representative government as the protection to our most cherished rights and liberties?" he asked.

"The success of democracy depends upon whether her leaders are being trained to play clean politics, or citizens interest and participation in affairs of government. In democracy the rank and file must be the guardians of their own rights and liberties. There is no room for a system of secret police in a democratic society. All must become the guardians of those rights and liberties which we cherish."

"We accept this philosophy of our national life. We condemn the United States Senate or the Republican majority for the failure to punish its members who receive their seats by corrupt means, because to punish them would reflect unfavorably upon the party."

"Yet here in college we tolerate what we condemn elsewhere. There is no room for spies or detectives here, yet you would have the faculty act as detectives by throwing upon them the entire responsibility for keeping wholesome the environment in which we live. It is our obligation to ourselves and to each other, citizens of this community to keep wholesome and inspiring, the atmosphere from which we are daily absorbing elements more solid, more real, more vibrant and more enduring than anything we gain from learned lectures or sparkling books."

Principles advocated by the speaker in his plea for a real democracy at Lawrence and for all self-governing institutions included: the trusting of elected representatives, eternal vigilance of our liberties maintained through a study of candidates for their qualifications and platforms, the guarding by the rank and file of its own rights and liberties.

LITTLE WORK AT CITY SCALES IN WINTER MONTHS

City scales at the public service buildings on S. Wisconsin are used only two or three times a day during the winter months, according to Alex Robedeau, weighmaster. Practically all of the weighing is of coal. Once or twice a week a farmer puts in an appearance with a load of hay or some other produce which he desires to have accurately weighed.

In spring and in fall, when the farmers have days when they cannot get on the land to work or after the harvesting has been completed and they have some spare time the weighmaster is busiest. Farmers usually chose that time to bring their wares to the city.

MORE THAN 200 ARE INVITED TO ATTEND FREE CHEST CLINIC

Letters Are Mailed to Persons Suspected of Having Tuberculosis

More than 200 letters have been sent to active and suspected cases of tuberculosis asking patients to come to the free chest clinic conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association under auspices of the Appleton Women's club at the clubhouse, Jan. 23 and 24. The clinic will be held from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. on the morning of the afternoon Tuesday and Wednesday.

Follow-up work managed by the association in Outagamie-co has revealed 270 deaths caused from tuberculosis in the ten year period from Jan. 1, 1915, to 1925. In the period there were 32 deaths due to the disease in Appleton. A list of persons who have died and those who have come in contact with these patients has been sent to the Women's club. Those who have been exposed by contact with tubercular patients will be asked to come to the clinic.

Persons with tuberculosis may go on for weeks and sometimes months before they suspect that anything is the matter with them, according to physicians of the association. When we are in good health we have a resistance against tuberculosis but there are many conditions which tend to break down this resistance. Some of these are long hours of work combined with overworking, bad ventilation in shop and home and especially insufficient or bad food. It may be some other disease, like influenza or pneumonia that breaks down our resistance and brings on tuberculosis.

Years ago tuberculosis was considered incurable, but physicians today know that it can be cured, the association claims. But it is of greatest importance that the disease is discovered and treated while it is still in the early stages.

The symptoms which may mean tuberculosis are: fatigue, lack of vitality, loss of appetite and weight, indigestion, fever, pain in the chest, after noon, vague and a persistent cough or cold.

Children are particularly susceptible to tuberculosis infections. It is estimated from studies made by medical men, prominent in the tuberculosis field, that a large proportion of the children, especially those who live in cities before the age of 14, have some infection in their lungs. As long as these children remain in good health, as long as their bodies are properly nourished, with good wholesome food, long hours of sleep and fresh air at all times, the infection lies dormant, and as long as the great majority of cases "light up." But if the child is tired out, run down, overworked and lacks fresh air, then a fertile field for tuberculosis germs is provided in his lungs and the disease becomes active.

Funds for carrying on the fight against tuberculosis are raised by the annual sale of penny Christmas seals.

COLLEGE PLAYERS SHOW PROFESSIONAL SKILL IN COMEDY

"Goose Hangs High" Put on in Finished Style Before 1,000 Persons

Before an audience of more than 1,000 persons the Sunset Players of Lawrence college Friday evening presented their version of "The Goose Hangs High," a comedy in three acts by Lewis Beach, in a manner that would do credit to professionals.

The plot centered around the struggle of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ingals to keep their children, the twins, in college. The character of Mrs. Ingals was portrayed with fine interpretation by Miss Irene Elker. She proved herself an actress by her professional style and her personal magnetism which won her the sympathy of the crowd. Bernard Ingals was played especially well by John Walker.

The character of the pessimistic "Granny," the mother of Mrs. Ingals, who could see no good in any thing was played by Helen Chagwin. She kept the audience in laughter by her criticisms of the twins.

Leslie Wright, the red headed twin and Miss Lucille Smith, the other twins were chosen especially to fit the parts they played. With their thoroughly modern habits and actions, these lively and wide-awake college students played their parts to perfection, astounding their parents and shocking "Granny" to outbursts of invective, in which she was morally certain that the youth of "today was fast going to pieces."

After Mr. Ingals resigns from his position as city assessor and finds himself near bankrupt and unable to send his twins back, the children rally around him and save the day. His son Hugh, played by John Walker, who is in love with Dagmar Carroll, played by Madge Helmer, offers to give him his savings for a new start and postpone his marriage. The twins voluntarily quit school and find work and they manage to bring "Granny" around to a proposition which will put Mr. Ingals into the greenhouse business, his favorite work.

Other characters were Julia Murdoch, played in good style by Miss Vorel Knap Noel Derby by Oscar Frederickson; Leo Day by John Robinson; Rhoda by Dorothy Verrier; Ronald Murdoch, by Diehl Snyder.

GREEN VEGETABLES LOWER IN PRICE

Appleton Merchants Have Abundant Supply of Table Delicacies

Many varieties of green vegetables from the Texas, Louisiana, Florida and California stock markets could be purchased at Appleton fruit markets this weekend at what was considered by dealers to be very reasonable prices.

Others are fine head lettuce, 10 to 15 cents; celery 15 to 25 cents; cauliflower, 35 to 50 cents; white cabbage, 6 to 8 cents; spinach, 2 pounds for 25 cents; beets, 3 pounds for 25 cents; peppers, 10 cents.

Green peas, 45 cents a pound, select tomatoes, 35 cents a pound, hot house radishes, 15 cents a bunch, reached a high price for the week. These vegetables are scarce and therefore are higher in price than usual.

ONLY 3 HIGHWAYS IN COUNTY OPEN TO MOTOR TRAVEL

Highways 18, 15 and 26 Are Passable, Highway Commission Reports

Snow has practically blocked all highways, except three, in Outagamie county to automobile travel. It is reported at the office of the county highway commission.

The three roads still passable to motorists are highways 15 to the Waupaca-co line, highway 15 to the Brown-co line, and highway 26 to New London. Travel is difficult even on these roads in spots.

Deep drifts and ruts on other state and county trunk highways prohibit passage except by sleigh. Highway 41 between Appleton and Shawano is blocked, as is highway 55 between Kaukauna and Seymour, and highway 156 in the towns of Maine and Cicero. Highway 76 also is reported blocked much of the way. Attempts now are being made to open highway 51 between Black Creek and Seymour.

Highway 18 to the Waupaca-co line was opened this week through the efforts of business men in Dale and Medina. This road had been blocked for several weeks.

CLEAR ALL WINTER
Highway 15 between Appleton and Kaukauna, the road from highway 15 to the Riverview sanatorium, and the road to the asylum have been kept clear by the county all winter. The remainder of highway 15 and highway 26 has been cleared of snow drifts by bus companies operating over these routes.

A slight snow, accompanied by a brisk wind, resulted in more drifting Thursday night, especially in windy sections, but the drifting was not considered serious.

No extensive motor travel is advised at this time, according to the "Weekly Road Bulletin" of the Chicago Motor Club.

A snow of 5.8 inches has covered the state and almost all Wisconsin highways are impassable. It is not considered likely that many roads will be open for travel for several days.

Highways 15, 55, 36, 61, 17, 19 and 41 out of Milwaukee were plowed open early in the week, but they are the only ones open. Busses would be able to reach Oshkosh and Green Bay from Milwaukee by the weekend it was expected.

Most roads in the vicinity of Madison are reported blocked, although important highways are being plowed open. Highway 50 from Kenosha to Lake Geneva is closed, and highway 57 is closed and impassable. Travel is possible in some places in the southeastern part of the state.

The "Weekly Road Bulletin" states: "The heavy snowfall of the past week covers the entire north central section of the United States and through trails remain in doubtful condition. Throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan only highways

INSTALL FLOOD LIGHTS IN FRONT OF CHURCH

Flood lights are being installed in front of the First Methodist church, and will be used during vesper and other evening services. Aside from bringing out in relief the outside of the building they also will effectively light the interior of the church auditorium, it is believed.

The lights will be directed through the rose window at the back of the gallery. The new lighting was possible through the courtesy of Fred Trezise.

Vesper services at the church will begin at 4:30 Sunday afternoon from now on instead of 4:15 as during the winter. The change was made because of the lengthening of the days. It is hoped the lights will be installed for the Sunday afternoon services.

559 HUNTERS PURCHASE DEER TAGS LAST YEAR

Outagamie-co sent approximately 559 deer hunters to the north woods last fall, records on file in the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, indicate. This is the number of persons who applied at his office for deer tags, and it is certain that the majority of them carried out their hunting plans, he believes.

Hunting licenses issued last year by the county clerk totaled 3,191, according to his report mailed to the state this week. Exactly 193 decoy bands were sold to duck hunters. There were 600 deer tags and 250 decoy bands received from the state last fall, and all those unsold have been returned.

The record of trapping licenses purchased here this season will not be submitted to the conservation commission until about May 1.

which have been plowed open are passable. Important trunk lines in Illinois and Indiana are being opened as fast as possible and motor travel will be again dependable after a few days excepting in case of more snow or high winds.

"Considerable snowfall over the northern section of the southern states. Main highways in this area remain in travelable condition. The trouble caused by rains in Georgia and Alabama has not cleared up and difficulty will be experienced because of it."

"The entire eastern and northeastern states are covered with snow. Main highways and trails, however, are being opened rapidly and travel can be resumed after a few days, excepting in case of more snow or high wind. Motorists are advised to make inquiry at the clubs along the route, to avoid snow-blocked roads. Southeastern trails remain generally in good condition."

"Heavy snowfall over the entire western and northwestern states. Important trails through the central plains states are being opened for travel and will be passable after a few days, excepting in case of more snow or high wind. Northwestern trails are improving and remain generally in good condition for travel."

CALL MEETING TO DISCUSS CHANGE IN MASON-ST TRACKS

Utility, Council and Property-owners Hold Joint Session
Monday Night

Whether street car tracks on S. Mason-st will be moved to the center of the street when it is paved this spring will be decided at a special meeting of the common council Monday evening with property owners and representatives of the W. T. L. H. and P. company.

Property owners petitioned the council at the meeting Wednesday night to order the tracks placed in the center of the street so that they might be able to park their automobiles in front of their homes. They further stated that as the tracks are laid now, along the west side of the street, the public is endangered.

Mason-st, from W. College-ave to W. Prospect-ave has been placed in the paving program for this year but plans and specifications are being delayed pending the meeting Monday night.

The traction company is objecting to removing its tracks because of the additional expense that would be incurred. Originally when the tracks were placed on this street, according to A. K. Ellis, general manager of the utility company, the city ordered the company to place them in their present position.

Mr. Ellis further objects to moving the track on the grounds that the revenue from this line will not warrant a large expenditure for the improvement. It was hinted at the council meeting last Wednesday that unless the traction company was allowed to maintain its track in its present location, it would apply to the railroad commission for permission to abandon the line and furnish bus service to that section of the city.

R. M. Connelly, city engineer, says there will be no additional cost involved for the traction company to move the line.

VIEW INVITATIONS FOR GRADUATION FUNCTIONS

Invitations to the graduation functions of the senior class at Appleton high school were inspected by a committee of faculty and students this week and several of the most desirable were selected for final approval by the class. Both local and outside companies presented model invitations.

Members of the committee were H. H. Helble, principal, Miss Ethel Carter, chairman of the senior class sponsors, Miss Ruth McKennan, William Lee, Miss Alice Gutschow, and Robert Eads. The order will be placed when the class has decided which type it wants. Usually 2,000 invitations are used by the students.

FORDS LEAD CAR SALES IN STATE IN NOVEMBER

More Fords were sold in the state in November than any other make of automobile, according to a report from the secretary of state. Of 532 cars sold, 262 were Fords, 127 Chevrolet, 38 Buicks and 30 Nashas. In Outagamie-co, only 10 automobiles were sold. Of this number, four were Fords, two each Chevrolet and Packards and one each Studebaker and Chrysler. Only 10 other counties in the state had a larger number of new registrations than Outagamie. Of a total of 113 trucks sold in the state, 55 were Fords and 15 Chevrolets. No trucks were sold in Outagamie-co last November.

NEENAH WINNER IN 1ST MEETING WITH MENASHA THIS YEAR

Jorgenson's Boys Cop 14 to 8 Victory in Fast Basketball Game

Neenah—The high school basketball team won the first of its two games today in the first of its two games.

The game was started with Mielke, Ehrigott, Radke, Johnson and Webster in the Neenah lineup and Webster, Ryan, Klutz, Goddard and Vetter in the Menasha lineup. Menasha made one substitution during the game, replacing Hest in place of Vetter. While Neenah put in Tyriver, Gaertner and Schneller in the course of the game.

Neenah held its opponents to two free throws during the last half. There were only two personal fouls called during the first quarter which ended with a score of 1 to 0 in Neenah's favor.

The contest started with Radke of Neenah finding the hoop after 45 seconds of play. Radke and Mielke were taken out during the quarter and replaced by Tyriver and Schneller, and Hest went in for Vetter for Menasha. Ehrigott made the only other basket during the first quarter which ended with a score of 1 to 0 in Neenah's favor.

Goddard of Menasha made one of his usual long shots soon after the second quarter had started. In this period Ehrigott was replaced by Gaertner and Vetter went back in his original place. Klutz failed two short shots in succession and Tyriver found the spot for the score 6 and 6 at the end of the half time.

Tyriver started the scoring in the beginning of the third quarter with a long shot, followed closely by a basket by Schneller after which Hest got a chance under the basket closing that quarter with a score of 12 and 6, still in Neenah's favor.

Hest fouled early in the last period allowing Klutz to make the only two points. Menasha secured in the last half by the free throw route. A change in Neenah's lineup put Radke in Schneller's place at center and Schneller replaced Ehrigott at forward position. The last score was made by Radke on a shot shortly before the end of the game.

The game was fast and well played. Neenah high school has won 15 straight games from Menasha, the winning period extending over seven years.

The second teams of Neenah and Menasha high schools played a curtain raiser, Neenah winning by a score of 13 and 7.

FORMER MOTORCOP SUES WOMAN FOR $20,000 DAMAGES

Joseph Martel Asks Big Sum for Injuries Suffered in Collision

Menasha—Joseph A. Martell, desk sergeant of Menasha police department, has brought action in circuit court, at Oshkosh against Frank Kutcher and Emma Kutcher also of Menasha for $20,000 for injuries alleged to have been suffered in an auto accident on Sept. 6, 1924. The trial opened Friday morning before a jury.

The jury was called after Judge Fred Beslinger had denied a plea in abatement made by defense counsel Harry V. Meissner of Milwaukee. W. B. Ruben of Milwaukee represents the plaintiff.

According to the testimony entered Friday, the accident occurred at the intersection of Plank and London-st. The collision between the car, driven by Mrs. Kutcher, and Martell's motorcycle, it was stated, occurred when Mrs. Kutcher turned to the left, from Plank-rd upon London-st. Mr. Martell described his injuries, a crushed right ankle, a compound fracture of the right leg, and other severe bruises. He stated he was not able to do the work he had formerly done and that his leg was still very painful and swollen beyond normal size. He testified that he is now employed as desk sergeant because of his crippled condition.

Martell told the court he was traveling northeast in pursuit of the Kutcher car. He claimed the auto was swerving from one side of the road to the other, traveling at a rate of approximately 25 miles an hour. He said he drew alongside and kept this position for about 70 feet before Mrs. Kutcher turned in front of him. He said he sounded his horn continuously to attract her attention. He also alleged that Mrs. Kutcher made no signal that she was about to turn and that she made the turn from the left side of the road and very suddenly.

Mrs. Kutcher claimed that she held out her arm and sounded her horn before turning. She also testified that she was traveling only 16 miles an hour. In the plea for abatement, Mr. Meissner brought out the contention that Mr. Martell has accepted compensation from the city of Menasha under the workmen's compensation act, $1,334.06 for personal injury, $241.10 for hospital bills, and $256 for medical attention.

Martell's receipt for $1,266.60, and releasing the city of Menasha from all claims and demands was exhibited. The common council resolution in connection with this matter was also introduced. It read, "Resolved, by the common council of the city of Menasha that subject to the above receipt, the city of Menasha assigns all its right, title and interest that it has to any claim for injuries received by Joseph Martell, who was in the employ of the said city when he claims to have been injured on Sept. 6, 1924."

The final clause states, "Said assignment is made without any recourse hereafter to said city, that it is not to be made a party defendant or otherwise in any action which said Joseph Martell may see fit to bring against the party whom he claims injured him."

In answer to Mr. Meissner's claim that this resolution was not in effect an assignment, Judge Beglinger pointed out that the statutes nowhere describe the form of assignment, holding that Mr. Meissner's point was not well taken. He held that the resolution effectively conveys all the rights of the city to Mr. Martell.

ONE-MAN TRAM IS COMING INTO OWN IN BADGER CITIES

New Type of Street Car Is Result of Bus Competition and Costs

Madison—(P)—Bus competition and increases in operating costs have so cut into the revenue of street car companies and public utilities corporations operating street cars, that the one-man tram is becoming increasingly popular in Wisconsin. Investigation in the state railroad commission files revealed Friday.

In the past few years, largely since 1920, 17 street railway concerns have started the single-control cars along their tracks.

The Superior one-man car accident and its consequent investigations has brought the reiterated opinion from the commission that the cars are as safe as those having both motorman and conductor, and the declaration that the commission will continue to permit the operation of the smaller cars on the lines where they appear to be the most economical without retarding service.

The railroad commissioner said that in all other towns now served in part or wholly by one-man cars, the record of accidents was no worse and in many cases better than during the time two-man cars operated on the same streets.

Among the Wisconsin cities now having exclusive one-man car service are Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Sheboygan. In the state capital, one-man cars are the vogue, with double-end or two-man carriers on during rush hours and on certain lines.

The larger cities, Racine, Superior, Milwaukee, and Kenosha have a larger number of cars with both motorman and conductor than with lone operators.

The other cities in which one-man cars are operated are: Janesville, La Crosse, Wisconsin Rapids, Green Bay, Ashland, Appleton, Eau Claire, Deloit, Marinette.

TWO TOWNS PAY $4,000 TO COUNTY TREASURER

Partial payment of county taxes by two townships added $4,000 to the county coffers this week, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. Vandenberg turned in $1,500 and Center $2,500.

A number of other towns and villages have indicated they will bring the treasury out of its present depleted condition by payment of part of their county taxes next week. Although there still is several thousand dollars left in both the general fund and highway fund, the county has not paid any bills for several weeks. With tax money now coming in, all bills will be cancelled shortly, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

POLICE FORBID BOYS TO PLAY "CRACK THE WHIP"

"Crack-the-Whip" is a dangerous game, and older boys of the city have been warned by chief of police Prim not to play it on the city ice rinks. The order came as the result of numerous complaints received by Mayor A. C. Rule from parents who say that older boys interfere with younger children on the ice.

It was pointed out by the chief that even if those who play the game are expert skaters, there is always the danger of running into smaller children who cannot skate as well.

Chief Prim has ordered patrolmen to be on the watch for offenders and those who are caught playing "this game on the city rinks will be arrested."

HOLD RULE BLOW TO GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Amendment to W. I. A. A. Constitution Hampers Smaller Schools, Belief

Milwaukee—(P)—The cause of girls' athletics was dealt a severe blow as the result of the recent amendment to the constitution of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association, in the opinion of Miss Margaret M. Williams, women's sports editor of The Milwaukee Journal. At its 1926 meeting the association passed an amendment prohibiting all interscholastic competition in schools affiliated with the W. I. A. A.

"I really believe that the amendment passed at the 1926 meeting of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association defeated its very purpose," Miss Williams said. "The claim made for the amendment was that the moral and physical hazards entailed in interscholastic meets for girls were too great."

"The action of the association was vigorously, but ineffectively opposed by the representatives of the majority of the smaller schools throughout the state who complained that the W. I. A. A. instead of aiding the cause of girls' athletics, was merely destroying all hopes of the smaller schools who had difficulty in raising even one team. Instead of relieving conditions, it has merely aggravated matters."

"With interscholastic competition taboo this year, the girls have turned for competition to commercial and independent teams," she said. "This means that they are playing with girls several years older, with girls often at the height of their physical strength in gymnasiums controlled or selected by the school authorities, and often before audiences whose sense of decorum is open to comment."

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. The structure, a frame building, was completed last fall at a cost of approximately $4,000.

George S. Dick, state rural school inspector will be invited to speak at the dedicatory exercises. Mr. Meating also will be a speaker.

The school board is composed of Walter Lowenhagen, clerk, and Charles Bender and Charles Boehrs. Miss Mae Strelke is the teacher.

Do Not Dress Like Business Woman If You Wish To Be Success; Expert Advises

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN
NEW YORK — "When in doubt, wear henna. When in deal hangs in the balance, put on that brick red dress and walk into the conference like a crown princess."

"If you would succeed in business, do not dress like a business woman. Seek the greatest possible illusion of luxury, however thin you possess it. The hosiery may be respectable enough, but they don't put over the big business deal."

These are sage words from Florence Holmes Stone, whose own brilliant career lends weight to her clothing counsel. She is financial secretary of the Southern Pine Association and treasurer of the National Federation of Business and Professional Woman's Clubs.

SHE GIVES ADVICE TO EXPERTS
Her work entails the handling of millions of dollars and the keeping of voluminous records for every branch of the pine industry in the southern states. She addresses large gatherings of men in many cities and is credited with having caused the abolition of the capital stock tax on pine, by her convincing arguments before the federal tax commission.

Male experts from all parts of the country seek her advice and defer to her.

And she says she always has better business luck when she is wearing red. In her wardrobe trunk that goes about the country with her are half a dozen red dresses, in various shades.

"Red, scarlet, henna, wine — they all give courage and dash. That's what business women need — not hosiery and navy blue suits and a meek and modest air, but swashbuckling clothes, confidence in themselves and enough tact to know when to treat a business associate like a human being instead of a wooden Indian."

"MAKE 'EM LIKE YOU"
Men don't like the business woman, unless she forces them to, Mrs. Stone believes. "There is still the old jealous resentment against women as usurpers. Then too, men have an insistive feeling that the business woman is an unnatural phenomenon — which of course, she is.

"They expect softness and sympathy and beauty from women, and the too earnest business woman gives them none of these."

"I don't mean, of course, that women in business should use sex as a lure. But surely feminine charm can legitimately make a woman a pleasant business as well as a social companion."

"Color and line are the first consideration in business clothes. Simplicity of line attracts men, and warmth of color interests them."

"If you expect to have to stand before an audience of men, watch your hemline, and your hose and shoes. Dresses and jewelry are most important to women audience, but men watch the hat and the feet."

MARCELS AND MORALE

"If you feel yourself losing morale, dragging on hours that ought to be easy, take a few hours off and have a Turkish bath, a shampoo and wave, a manicure and a facial, or as many of them as you can pay for."

"The men in your office may not know what has happened. But the consciousness of being 'well turned out' will double your assurance, and, therefore, your ability."

"Training is the first essential, naturally. But a close second is pose. Everybody in business should cultivate an assured and graceful attitude toward his or her job a certain amount of individualism in methods. Nowadays you have to 'tell the world' about yourself, or it will never notice you."

DON'T BE SORRY FOR YOURSELF
"If you can't compass pose, at least fight for poise."

The excuse that business women are "too busy" to consider personal appearance is flimsy, Mrs. Stone believes. Left a widow with two children at 21, she has found a way to acquire business training, forge ahead through the maze of stenography and other subordinate work, to a place as expert on finance and taxation — and still to keep a complete wardrobe in working order all the time.

"You can't do good work," she says, "when you keep seeing your rough fingernails and catching sight of your own shiny nose and stringy hair and spotted dress. Those things make you feel sorry for yourself and uncomfortable under the gaze of others."

"Modestly dressed and groomed you can look any man in the eye and beat him at his own game."

SPRING SHOES TO MAKE FEET LOOK SMALLER

The demands of style and esthetics for the summer of 1927 call for still smaller and daintier feet, according to style experts attending the National Shoe Retailers' convention now being held in Chicago.

But women not blessed by nature with Triby-like pedal extremities need not be discouraged, say the fashion makers. The new styles of shoes are designed to make any foot look small and pretty. Heels will be one quarter to seven-eighths of an inch higher than the highest that have been in vogue; pumps will be shorter; toes will be round like those of French shoes and all of these features will combine to give almost any woman a foot appearance of which she can be proud, the shoe men say. They will make any foot appear two sizes smaller, they declare.

Light colors and two-tone effects are other features of the new styles. Mannish designs will prevail for sport wear. "Step-in" types, ties, and airy open shoes with straps will also be popular, it was said.

shouted something equally unintelligible and she passed on.

For an hour she kept saying all over the room, "I killed my husband this morning! I killed my husband this morning!" Nobody heard, for nobody paid any attention.

"It will be easier after this," she smiled as she sank back in her limousine to go home. "No brains needed. No thinking needed. Not even about the weather."

They say the story is true. I don't see any reason to contradict it. We talk a lot about insane and useless things. And while we're talking are we doing?

Mussolini employs a barber who, contrary to all tonsorial tradition, is silent. "I four years," says Mussolini, "we have not said two words to each other outside of a greeting."

It would appear that all those who serve him are equally silent. Evidently the premier believes that silence is golden and he gets better service from "doers" than "talkers."

Someone, somewhere, sometime said, "The unspoken word is our greatest treasure."

I certainly do believe it.

SHE PREFERS AIRPLANE
London — (P) — It is easier to fly an airplane than to drive an automobile, in the opinion of Mrs. Sophie Elliott Lynn, Britain's pioneer air woman.

Addressing the National Council of Women, Mrs. Lynn stated that because of the ease with which an airplane may be operated in good weather, many of the cross Channel pilots between London and Paris take looks with them to read during the journey.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF OLD MOVIE STARS TAKE PARENTS' PLACES IN FILMLAND; OTHERS DIDN'T INHERIT ACTING ABILITY

BY DA NTHOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — That phrase, "still in its infancy," can be applied to the motion picture industry no longer.

The films now boast a second generation — thus establishing their right to a place among the old institutions of the nation. Many who a few years ago were mere babes — as far as fame was concerned — now have children who are beginning to make their own right.

DOLORES BEST BET

Outstanding of these youngsters is Dolores, daughter of Maurice Costello, former stage notable who is now playing character roles in celluloid's drama. With the exception of Syd Cline, Dolores is the biggest bet on the Warner Brothers' lot. Her mother, Helene, also is under contract to Warners and shows promise of a great future.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., has cut a niche for himself in reel circles. He is one of the best-known juveniles on the screen. Some day he will be a popular leading man. Girls can be leading ladies when they are only 16. But the men must grow up.

Sam Rork, cinema producer, has been in every branch of the show "racket" for 20 years. Now he is starting his 17-year-old daughter, Ann, on the road to stardom. She already has had featured roles in two pictures.

GOLDEN-HAIRED RITA

When the blond or brunet question comes up, Rita Carewe always draws a vote in favor of the golden-haired maidens. She is the daughter of Edwin Carewe, prominent director, who has spent some years in the film factories. Carewe himself was an actor before he picked up the megaphone.

Young Harold Lockwood is carrying on for his dad. At the time of the older Lockwood's death he was the most popular leading man on the screen. He made what at that time was considered a magnificent salary, but he left practically nothing. Mrs. Rork, actress in order to put Harold, Lockwood worked for years as a character, through school. Last summer he started the climb which, he hopes, will take him to the heights reached by his dad.

Francis X. Bushman is still a high-salaried cinema actor. But he has a son and daughter, Ralph and Virginia, who already have made themselves box-office attractions. William Collier, Jr., is capitalizing on the fame attained by his father, and he is getting away with it in great style.

There are others carrying on for their names mean little outside of Hollywood. Some of them never will earn the right to be called a celebrity. They just didn't inherit any acting ability.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Charles Reilly Neff, junior member of the law firm of Cluny and Neff, was a middle-aged man who looked more like a gentleman prizefighter than a lawyer. Faith knew that he had almost as many court victories to his credit as had his more famous partner, Ralph Cluny. The two men had been not only partners in their profession, but the closest of friends in private life.

The first significant question that Coroner Murchison asked was like a bombshell in that breathlessly quiet room:

"Did you recently assist the deceased, Mr. Ralph Cluny, in the drafting of his last will and testament?"

"I did."

"Without asking you at this time to produce a copy of that document, Mr. Neff, I am going to ask you if Miss Cherry Lane, who is now Mrs. Christopher Wiley, will materially benefit through the terms of that will?"

"Miss Lane was named as one of the chief beneficiaries under the document drawn up in our offices one month ago today," Mr. Neff answered loudly and clearly.

A score of people gasped audibly. A reporter looked at his watch, and almost ran from the room, Faith felt as if she were going to faint.

"Is the bequest to Miss Lane contingent upon her marriage with the deceased?" the coroner asked quickly.

"It is not. The clause regarding Miss Lane specifies that, upon the event of the death of the testator, before his marriage to her on November 25, 1926, Miss Lane is to inherit unconditionally."

District Attorney Banning, an abashed spectator of the entire drama of the inquest, nodded with approval. He was to hold a few trump cards.

Both Jim Lane and Junior were questioned, but perfunctorily, since it was quite evident that they knew nothing whatever about the death of the aged lawyer.

A note from Dr. Atkins, briefly outlining Mrs. Lane's serious illness and telling of her removal to a hospital, was read by the coroner when her name was called. Faith, sensitive to every reaction from the densely packed audience, knew that her mother's dangerous illness was still more sympathy for the girl who had already been indicated by public opinion.

Alexander Cluny and his son, Ralph, were called, and testified that they had been with the murdered lawyer in his home early on Thanksgiving Day, and that he had been in unusually good spirits. Both testified that they knew of no enemy who could have desired the death of Ralph Cluny.

At four o'clock the coroner abruptly announced that he had concluded his investigation. The six men of the jury retired, with Dr. Murchison to the library of the Cluny house for deliberation.

"But, Bob," Faith drew her sweet heart into a corner of the drawing room. "They didn't pay the slightest attention to those footprints you discovered. Why? Why didn't you make the coroner put them into the report?"

"Why, darling, I have no power to make the coroner do anything," Bob

SMILED AT HER, BUT HIS EYES WERE DARK WITH TROUBLE. "I TOLD YOU MURCHISON HAD MADE LIGHT OF THEM WAS SURE THEY HAD BEEN MADE BY A COP CRUISING AROUND THE GROUNDS, LOOKING FOR CLUES. I'M SORRY. I WISH I COULD HAVE DONE SOMETHING. SHALL WE WAIT HERE FOR THE JURY'S VERDICT, OR GO TO SEE YOUR MOTHER?"

"Let's wait," Faith begged. "I couldn't act naturally before mother while I'm so racked with suspense. Maybe they won't take long."

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

THE TINYMITES

THE polar bear ran and there The Tinymites didn't seem to care. It really was a dandy treat for them to have such fun. They'd chase and jump and loudly shout. You'd think that it would tire them out, but as the bear went faster, that much faster they would run.

A cry went up of, "There he goes!" It was a band of Eskimos. The little town had all turned out to see the new-found band. As "cross" the ice and snow they'd shoot, the Tinymites seemed so very cute but how they ran so fast the natives could not understand.

Wee Coppy had a ride at first but, frankly, he seemed much the worst of all the little fellows who took turns right after him. Each time the crowd began to yell, poor Coppy shook and almost fell. It seemed for a bear riding he was simply not in training.

At last queer Coppy hopped aboard and all the others loudly roared, for he looked mighty funny and he bobbed right up and down like a cork. He finally slid down to the snow and let the poor tired out bear go. The way that he had acted was just like a circus clown.

"And now," exclaimed the Eskimo "I'll tell you where we ought to go, right down to wonder stream where we can likely find a seal." No sooner said than this was done and shortly there was brand new fun, for promptly they discovered one just waiting for a meal.

"Oh, gee," said Scouty, "how I wish that we just had a mess of fish & seal just dearly loves them. And to feed him would be sport." The Eskimo then brought some out, that he had packed away, no doubt, and when the Tinymites fed the seal it made him grunt and snort.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

BY OLIVE ROBERTS CARTON

WE talk a great deal. We say a good bit of nothing. We breathe a word into the air, it falls to earth we care not where, unless perchance we are radio artists and our words are harnessed and whisked all over the world even unto the Antipodes where the benighted Antipodeans, no doubt like American fans, keep lights burning and the radio awake until wee small hours of the morning.

A woman went to a tea. She was tired. She was tired of talking and tired of teas and their small talk, but it was part of her duty as a senator's wife to stand both talking and tears, and look pleasant, please!

She stood at the door of a crowded drawing-room one day jaded and worn. It was her fourth tea that afternoon and she hadn't been home since morning. All she heard was gabble, gabble, gabble!

No one hears a word anyone else is saying," she remarked to herself, "and nobody cares. I'd give a cookie to know if there's one word of sense in all that screeching."

Then she let out an inspiration. With her usual poise and charm she entered the chattering throng of men and women, smiling sweetly. She paused by one group and shouted, "I killed my husband this morning." They

NEARBY
TOWNSNEGATIVE DEBATE SQUAD WINS FROM
OCGOTO FALLS TEAM

Kaukauna Speakers Excell in Delivery and in Their Arguments

Kaukauna—Kaukauna High school negative debate team won an unanimous decision over Oconto Falls affirmative team in a debate at the high school auditorium Friday evening. The question debated was: Resolved, that the initiative and referendum measure proposed and adopted by the 1925 state legislature become a part of the Wisconsin constitution. The Oconto Falls team was rated considerably higher in manner of delivery and strength of arguments than the Kaukauna team. Members of the Kaukauna team are Cecilia Wolf, Elmer Otto and Francis Grogan with Wilbur Haas as alternate. The Oconto Falls team consisted of Maurice Fisher, Joseph Markiewicz and Gilbert Waldron. The judges were Ben Rohan, Appleton superintendent of schools; S. W. Campbell of Oshkosh Normal and Prof. R. B. Thiel of Lawrence college.

Mayor W. C. Sullivan presided. Interest was shown by the townspeople and a good sized crowd heard the debate.

Thursday evening the Kaukauna affirmative team was defeated, 2 to 1, by Shawano on the same question. According to reports from Shawano, Kaukauna lead on both rebuttal and manner of delivery but did not have enough time to occupy the full speaking time.

In two weeks the Kaukauna affirmative team will meet the Sturgeon Bay negative team here and the local negative team will travel to Neenah.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union was held Friday afternoon in the library building. Routine business was transacted.

At a regular meeting of the Electric City Chapter, Order of Daughters of the Good, it was decided to hold regular meetings every Thursday evening instead of twice a month as has been the custom in the past. The initiatory degree spent some time in practicing.

Mrs. Stanley Lazon entertained the Linker-Longer club at her home on Thursday evening. Five hundred was played and prizes were won by Mrs. George Arning and Mrs. Herman Dolven.

NEW POLICE CALL SYSTEM IS WORKING OUT WELL

Kaukauna—Chief of Police R. H. McCarty has reported the new system of night calls for the police department to be working out satisfactorily after nearly a month. Red lights have been placed on top of the municipal building chimney and are controlled from the fire department instead of from Nielsen's confectionary shop and the Y. M. C. A. as under the old system. If the officers are on their beats telephone calls are taken at the fire station and the red lights turned on. A connection to the police department phone has been installed in the fire station.

ADVANCEMENT CLUB WILL DISCUSS FAIR

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Advancement association will meet again Wednesday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. Plans for the annual Mid-winter fair will be made at the meeting and an assistant to John Cooper, fair chairman, probably will be announced at that time. A dinner at 6:30 will precede the business meeting.

STREETS OPEN FOR AUTOMOBILE TRAFFIC

Kaukauna—The city plow has been working long hours every day and into the night plowing out the streets. Saturday morning even the streets in the city were in fair shape and it was possible to travel on scraped roads to most any place in the city. City crews have been busy the last few days landing slippery sidewalks. Several loads of cinders have been dumped on the hill in making it possible for motorists to use their brakes.

Here's Real Relief From the Torturing Pains of Neuritis

Men and Women Everywhere Seldom Fail To Get Quick Relief from Pain and Suffering

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing, agonizing pains, just go to some good drug store and get a bottle of Allenhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished those persisting nerve racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights. While this particular formula was compounded for the purpose of conquering painful, Gouty conditions and what is known as Rheumatoid Arthritis—a knotty, painful swelling of the joints—it has proven wonderfully successful in most forms of Neuritis and Sciatic Nerve Pains. You needn't be afraid of its containing dope of any kind—it doesn't. Such things are only makeshifts and can at the best give only partial relief. Be sure you've got Neuritis and then get Allenhu Special Formula No. 2. Schlitz Bros. Co. sells lots of it.

The Safe Car for

For winter you need a car that will master the drifts and tackle the roughest going without strain or injury. The Ford is built for travel like that—it usually breaks the road for the others to follow. And on slippery streets, it has the advantage of being light—easy to steer and easy to stop. Women prefer the Ford because of these features—they know it will take them anywhere, anytime, in safety.

STEINHAEUER SAYS FIREFMEN DESERVE RAISE IN SALARY

Declares Appleton's Insurance Rate is Low Because of Efficient Firefighters

Because of the efficiency of the Appleton fire department, the long hours put in by the members of the department and the money saved to taxpayers in insurance premiums annually, Alderman Steinhaeuer, chairman of the fire and water committee, favors the adoption of a wage schedule that will provide for yearly increases for firemen. The fire and water committee is to meet next Monday to discuss a definite schedule which is to be presented to the common council at the next regular meeting.

At present, the first assistant chief is receiving $165 a month and if the schedule as suggested by Alderman Steinhaeuer is adopted, he will receive $175 for the first three years and $185 after the third year. The second assistant's salary will be increased from $145 a month at present to $165. After three years this salary will be increased to $170.

The captain's salaries will be increased from $130 to $155 for three years. After three years they will receive a $5 increase. The electrician will be raised from $130 to $135 for three years and after that period he will receive $155. The mechanic will receive $135 for the first three years and he will receive a $20 raise after that time. At present privates receive $115 a month for the first six months and $125 per month after that period. Under the new schedule they would receive $115 for the first year, $120 after the first year, $125 after the second year, $135 after the third year and $145 after the fifth year.

In comparing the hours worked by firemen with those of other workmen, Alderman Steinhaeuer says that the firemen work 12 hours a day and seven days a week. Other workmen usually labor only eight hours a day for six days a week.

Appleton's fire insurance rate is only 2 1/2 per cent as compared with 3 1/2 per cent in other Badger cities. This is due entirely to the fact that the yearly fire loss here is smaller than in other cities, Mr. Steinhaeuer said. In money this means a saving to the property owners of between $30,000 and $40,000 every three years.

The new salary schedule as favored by Mr. Steinhaeuer means an expenditure of only $3,000 a year.

THAT PATERNAL INSTINCT

THIS IS ONE OF THE SCENES IN "A TRIP TO CHINATOWN" IN WHICH MARGARET LIVINGSTON AND J. FARRELL McDONALD PLAY THE FEATURE ROLES. THE PICTURE WILL BE PRESENTED MONDAY AND TUESDAY AT THE NEW BIJOU THEATRE.

STAGE And SCREEN

GROSS ROSS PLAYERS COMING TO FISCHER'S APPLETON

Coming directly from Milwaukee, where they played a successful season at the Garrick theatre, the Gross Ross players open a week's engagement at Fischer's Appleton. Their opening performance will be Monday in that sensational comedy drama mystery play "The Gorilla." The Gorilla was an outstanding and phenomenal success throughout the land. It was an instantaneous "hit" in New York and repeated its success in Chicago. Then, too, in London, England it swept all before it. The Gross Ross Players played it two weeks in Milwaukee to complete capacity at each performance.

The Gorilla is not only a play possessing all the thrills of the best of mystery plays, it also abounds in a real and wholesome humor. A laugh accompanies every thrill. It is this dual quality that gives the Gorilla such high entertainment value.

It is really a satire, not only mystery plays, but also upon that bombastic individual—the detective.

Written by a great modern writer—Ralph Spence, it is filled with a wit and humor that is indeed rare on our American stage. It possesses real value and is genuinely worthwhile seeing.

"TRIP TO CHINATOWN" FILLED WITH LAUGHS

When "A Trip to Chinatown," Fox Film's version of Charles A. Hoyt's uproarious comedy, opens at the New Bijou theatre next Monday for a two-day run, local moviegoers will have an opportunity of viewing one of the funniest farces ever brought to the silver screen and the cast includes some of the best artists in America.

The list includes beautiful Margaret Livingston, billed as "Allegia Guyer," the audacious widow, and Earle Foxe, cast as "Welland Strong," the unhappy young man who is sure he has an explosive lung. The part of the gay old San Francisco uncle was assigned J. Farrell MacDonald, who immortalized the role of Corporal Casey in "The Iron Horse."

Not satisfied with this stellar attraction, Fox Films surrounded Miss Livingston and the two male leads with one of the most perfectly-balanced casts ever assembled at the West Coast studio. The list includes Anna May Wong, George Kuwa, Harry Woods, Wilson Boner, Marie Astaire, Gladys McConnell, Charles Farrell and scores of other well-known actors. Much of the action is laid in San Francisco's romantic Chinatown reproduced with the utmost fidelity, and many of the interiors are gorgeous in the extreme. It is said to be the only costly five-reel comedy ever produced. Thousands of extras were necessary for the revelry scenes in Chinatown. Special comedy writers were employed to supply Director Kerr with novel situations.

Pre-view critics have pronounced this the best comedy released in recent years.

FRIDAY GAMES

MANITOWOC 25, APPLETON 13
W. Green Bay 21, E. Green Bay 11
Sheboygan 23, Marinette 11.

Unable to stand the pace set by a speedy Manitowoc high school cage squad and playing far below their usual standard, Coach Joseph Shields' Appleton high school cagers lost their first conference game of the season Friday evening at the Ship city by the score of 25-13. Appleton appeared lost on the Manitowoc floor, missing easy shots from under the hoop and being out of free throws while the speedy Red Devils ran through the locals with a four-man offense. However, a goodly share of Manitowoc's counters were made from midfloor where the eagle eyes of Fishbeck and Brennan, forwards, seemed to have the hoop spotted from anywhere on the home floor. The first half ended 7-5, with the Orange losing an opportunity to take a lead by missing 7 out of 10 shot attempts.

The play of Manitowoc's veteran's was as good as any valley conference contender has ever shown and chances are that the Ships will not be defeated on the home floor this year. Appleton was bothered by the glass bounding boards and seemed afraid to shoot with its usual drift. Instead, being painted the glass was the same as a mirror with the result that a shooter while aiming for a try would see rows of yelling people behind the hoop.

This was the case at one end while the other had a background of white curtain. Rules definitely state that glass bounding boards must be painted white so that they cannot be seen through.

For Manitowoc, Brennan, Fishbeck and Peppard formed a speed combination hard to beat, driving the ball through with Peppard as the keystone or shooting long tries on which the eagle eyed forwards excelled. Steinberg caged two Appleton fingers with desperate lunges from midfloor and behind in the last quarter and played a good defensive game in spite of allowing Peppard to slip behind him for a few pot shots. Catlin and Murphy, sub forwards, scored a ringer each. Lutz seemed unable to hit the bucket and was far off form. The weak link at center was the outstanding one. Laird played a few minutes with his sprained thumb, and two other men, including Pfeiffer, got whacks at the job.

Manitowoc opened the scoring in the first second when Fishbeck scored a point on Strutz's foul. Reetz tied it on Fishel's foul and Peppard scored a two-point shot on a fast break under the hoop. Strutz missed a shot on Wilda's foul and Kuntz did the same for Fishbeck. Brennan looped a long try and Steinberg scored one of two shots on Brennan's foul. Brennan added another long try and the quarter ended with the Orange behind, 7-2.

Lutz opened the second period by missing a try. Brennan's foul and Brennan did the same for the Orange forward. Reetz missed two on Brennan's foul and Murphy did the same for Fishel. Steinberg made one of two on Wilda's foul and then Murphy scored Appleton's first basket.

The half ended, 7-5, with Appleton out scoring Manitowoc, 3-0, in the second quarter. Within five minutes and a half after the second half began Fishbeck and Wilda scored on long shots from beyond the Orange defense and Peppard added a third a few minutes later. On Fishbeck's foul, Reetz made one of two tries and Fishbeck missed on Murphy's foul. Fishbeck added another ringer and then a free try on Steinberg's technical. Peppard missed

1,000 WOMEN IN STATE PIN MEET AT GREEN BAY

Green Bay—(P)—Approximately 1,000 women members of the Wisconsin Women's Bowling association, will be ready to attack the ten pins at the Green Bay Columbus Community Club on Feb. 1 when their eighth annual bowling tournament gets under way.

With nearly 700 teams having signified their intention of entering, officials predict the largest tournament ever held by the organization. Besides the 50 women team games, many will compete in the singles and doubles events. Green Bay will have more than 75 teams entered and Milwaukee will send about 35 quintets, officials said.

The Wisconsin association is affiliated with the International Women's Bowling congress which will hold its annual meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, soon. Last year there were several Badger team senters in this tournament.

Sometime during the five days the bowlers will gather and select the 1926 tournament city and next year officers. Two of the state officers elected must be from the city in which the next tourney is to be held.

Mrs. Edna Smith, of Green Bay, was elected president at the Appleton meeting in 1925 and Miss Ella Shallow, Green Bay, was elected treasurer and local secretary. Mrs. Jean Kneppke, of Milwaukee, was elected state secretary.

San Francisco—King Tut, Minneapolis, and Tommy Cello, San Francisco, drew (10). Freddie Hoppe, San Francisco, was awarded a technical knockout over Allan Salisbury, Chicago (4).

Sammy Lupica, Toledo, defeated Bobby Young, Pittsburgh (10). A throw on Laird's foul and then added a ringer from the side. Catlin scored for the Orange and Fishbeck for the Red before the quarter ended, 20-8, for the Ships. Appleton was outscored 13-3.

In the fourth quarter each squad scored five points. Lutz got a free throw on Wilda's foul and Steinberg looped a long underhand shot from beyond midfloor. On Pfeiffer's personal and technical Fishbeck scored once and Peppard missed. Peppard added a point on Pfeiffer's foul and then missed two on Kuntz's foul. Hughes dropped a basket and Peppard scored a point on Catlin's foul. Steinberg added a long ringer as the game ended.

As a result of the Orange loss Fondy took first place in the loop standings with three wins and no defeats. The Red beat Oshkosh 21-11. West Green Bay upset the dope and beat its east side rival, 21-11, and Sheboygan had little trouble with Marinette, 23-11. Sheboygan, Appleton and Manitowoc now are tied for second place with two one and two marks.

Hardly a feminist argument, it was suggested. But then Mrs. Mallory is a feminist. She is happily married to Franklin J. Mallory, New York broker, and has been for seven years. With Mr. Mallory she is in Miami Beach for a month, arriving in mid-January, to enjoy surf bathing and golf, watching the polo games and, incidentally, to refresh her court game.

"I don't know anything about tennis," declared Mrs. Mallory, when someone expressed the wish to talk with her about the game at which she excels. Her listener wore an incredulous look.

"I never have read any of the texts on the theory of the game, nor studied the technique of the good players with whom I've been matched. I just play tennis."

"Did you never study one of your own strokes which you thought might be improved with a view of strengthening it?" she was asked.

"Just once," she confessed. "Several years ago, when all the experts said I had no backhand. I went out every day and played with a professional until I developed a backhand."

"That this question of temperament was being asked 'no about,' Mrs. Mallory said. 'Did you ever see a woman who answered the American definition of a 'sportsman'?"

Her listener remained tacitly silent.

"When I lose, I'm furious," she continued. "I have been rated a good loser because I cover it up. But I don't like it, not a bit. Here in America, you're not to be a good sportsman. But why? Why must you pretend to take the 'sporting' attitude? Women won't."

HOOPLE, M'COY IN LEAD IN CUE MEET

1926 Champ and McCoy Tie for Top Honors by Winning Week's Games

A. Starbuck	1	2	.333	13	0
J. Green	0	2	.000	17	0

H. Hoople, last year's champion, seems to be on his way to his second straight title in the cue tourney being conducted at the Pindle and Reineke parlors. By shooting championship ballers he walloped R. Corey 100-63, this week, and his second straight without a loss. D. McCoy stayed in the fight for first by also taking his second game without a defeat, beating H. Liethen in a safety game, 100-70.

Hoople led his rival by a big score and had taken high runs of the tourney, a 28, when he was forced to concede his own honors of the meet to Corey, who came back with a 27 to bring his score from 36 to 63. In the McCoy-Liethen game, McCoy made a run of 21 and Liethen had a 17. H. Oaks still is in the race for top honors with one win and no losses.

In another game this week, S. Bunker beat A. Starbuck in the fastest game of the meet, 100-55, in 20 innings. Bunker had three runs of 13d and run out an unfinished 17. The win gave Bunker a tie for fourth with a 50-50 mark and drove Starbuck into a cellar tie with no games won. Before the battle each had lost a game in a single start.

The players are shooting good finishes and prospects for a close finish are bright. Many upsets are expected because the men are so evenly matched. A prize of $18 goes to the winner, $10 is awarded for second, $7 for third and $5 for fourth. A prize of $7 is given for high run, now held by Corey with a 27, and a prize of $4 is given for best game now held by Bunker with a 20.

IN NEW ROLE

ALLAN SOTHERON

Pitcher Allan Sotheron who is to be assistant manager Bob O'Farrell at St. Louis next year, literally threw himself out of the American League. His weakness was handling bunts, only so far as throwing the runner out was concerned. He usually hit the high field fence. Sotheron is smart and should prove helpful to the manager of the Cardinals.

IOWANS MARCH ON ILLINI READY FOR DEFENSIVE BATTLE

Both Fives Use Short Pass Style; Hawks Fear Daugherty, Lindsay

Iowa City—Ready to revive its flagging championship hopes, Iowa's basketball team marches on the University of Illinois team Saturday evening at Urbana.

The Hawkeyes occupy a tie for fourth place in the Big Ten by victories over Chicago and Purdue and a loss to Michigan. Illinois ranks sixth with victories over Minnesota and Northwestern and defeats from Ohio State and Michigan.

One of those slow-scoring games in which the defense of each team counteracts the offense efforts is probable. The Illini have the veteran Mike Reynolds and a youngster, McKay, 190-pounder, as guards while Iowa will depend upon the close team-play of Captain Hogan and McConnell.

Devising a defense to bottle up "Pug" Daugherty, forward, who had averaged eight points a game in Big Ten battles, and Lindsay, free-scoring center, has occupied the Hawkeyes this way.

Iowa basket shooters have made a special effort to improve their marksmanship which was woefully poor in the Michigan game. Two good, the forward who leads the Iowa scorers, and Wilcox, sophomore center, are about due to return to style which netted much in the way of fast clean fighting.

Paul will meet Joe Thomas formerly of Chicago, but now of Oshkosh, in the first half of the double wind-up. Both of these boys have been going exceptionally well of late, and the least that can be said is there will be plenty of mid-air swinging and hard punching combined with good defensive work.

Frank Spensky of Milwaukee will attempt to duplicate his previous performance of knocking out Jack Beal of Oshkosh in the preliminary to the double wind-up. Beal was put to sleep by Spensky in a scheduled eight-round bout at Rhineland on the fourth round, but he confidently expects to reverse this occurrence.

Jocko Murray of Oshkosh, will attempt to score a come-back victory over Washie Hendricks, formerly of Kaukauna, but now also of Oshkosh.

Art Poggini of Appleton will meet Bud Baggett of Oshkosh in a curtain-raiser, and Poggini will attempt to regain the prestige lost when he was knocked out recently by Young Shaw in the Oshkosh ring.

The two rounds of boxing is the maximum amount permitted by the state athletic commission. Next to the Michigan Indiana tilt in prospects of a bitter struggle is the Iowa Illini game at Urbana Saturday night.

The loss of two close games in a row has fired the determination of the Illini. Minnesota starts an eastern invasion Saturday night against Ohio. Hoping to get the better of the Buckeyes, Monday night they tackle Michigan, on Saturday nights contest will finish the first third of the season with 22 games played and 37 remaining on the schedule.

Madison—Captain Ralph Merkel will close his brilliant basketball career Saturday as a member of the University of Wisconsin five here tonight, when he leads the Badgers against Maury Kent's Iowa Northwestern and segregation. The loss of the clever forward guard will rip a gap in the smoothly running Winthrop machine which will be difficult for the little Doctor to mend.

In every game played by Wisconsin thus far, Merkel has delivered far above any previous expectation. He has been the key to the Badger attack by his versatile advancing of the ball from the backfield, and has yet to uncork an erratic pass under fire. The Cardinal captain has pulled several games from the fire by his timely basket shooting when the forwards were unable to shake free for their customary short attempts.

Merkel's defensive play, teaming with his successor to the leadership of Meenwell's live, Polie Barnum, has been faultless. The manner in which this pair smother their opponents and shift fire when carrying the ball up

CAGE LEAGUE BARS TRAVELING PLAYERS

Wisconsin State Loop Prexy Wants More Home Talent

Sheboygan—Traveling professional basketball players are barred from participating in Wisconsin State Basketball league games from now on, President Fred W. Kippeling of Kohler announced here Saturday. This is a result of a mail ballot favoring a rule submitted by the prexy of the State loop. Present members of State league teams, however, are not affected by the new ruling.

The rule provides that only players living in the counties in which State league teams exist may become members of such teams, including a provision that the player's place of employment be defined as his home. It further provides that no State league player may take part as a member of a non-league team that charges admission for its games.

Action prohibiting teams from taking on traveling professionals was aimed to prevent loading up for big money on the part of some of the season. The only previous provision against this was that the names of players must be filed with the secretary of the league fifteen days before they become eligible for participation.

President Kippeling's attitude toward the traveling professional is that he does not properly represent one city with whom team he plays, and that by engaging him, there is difficulty in developing a smooth-working team. The tendency, he says, is to develop individual stars instead of a working unit. By sticking to home county players as much as possible and developing a smooth-working team. Chicago—(P)—The seven American League club owners invited by President Dan Johnson to help settle the status of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were enroute here Saturday for Sunday's momentous meeting. Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox alone was left off the list of guests because of his long standing feud with Johnson.

The American league executive after a conference with his lawyers, was emphatic Saturday that his resignation was not on the program. Letters from fans continue to arrive, Mr. Johnson said, urging him to keep up the fight against gambling in baseball. Another offering was a basket of roses.

There was increasing evidence Saturday that the club owners were eager to restore the peace of two years ago, and also of last month, between Baseball Commissioner Landis and Johnson. The American League executive feels that he can satisfactorily explain to the commissioner Monday the reasons why his circuit does not want to employ Cobb and Speaker any longer.

While the commissioner has been silent on his plans for Monday's session President Johnson has talked freely to newspapermen of the story behind the dismissal of these two stars, and he feels confident that his club owners are still back of him, as they were last September when the magnates voted to authorize the demand for resignations of the Detroit and Cleveland managers.

Although not a member of the league board of directors, Colonel Jacob Ruppert of the New York Yankees is regarded as the "man of the hour" because of his influence with the other club owners with Johnson, and with the commissioner.

K. C. PINMEN URGED TO GET STATE ENTRIES IN

Knights of Columbus bowlers who desire to enter the K. C. pin meet in the state are urged to get their entries in at once as the entry list closes Thursday, Jan. 27. Henry Otto at Gloucesters-Gage Co. is in charge of Appleton entries. He can be seen at the store or reached by calling 2303. Entries list at the Catholic Home also will be turned over to Mr. Otto.

INSURANCE PINMEN TO ROLL EAGLES MONDAY

Nelson Insurance Co. bowlers will battle the Fraternal Order of Eagles five Monday evening at the Eagle alleys. Thursday the insurance men will play host to the Catholic Home team in the national tournament, a few years ago, at the Eagle alleys. The local men will bowl a return match with the Oshkosh team at the Sawdust city later.

DELANEY IS 7 TO 5 FAVORITE OVER JIM

New York—(P)—Wagers already are appearing in Wall Street on the outcome of the heavyweight match between Jimmy Delaney of Boston and Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., champion of the light heavyweights. Delaney is a 7 to 5 favorite. The match is scheduled for Feb. 18.

BENGOUGH SURPRISED

His reputation as a weak batter has kept Benny Bengough on the bench much of the time since joining the New York Yankees. Inserted into the lineup last season when Collins slumped in his catching, Bengough furnished the real surprise of the year by leading the league with an average of .381.

SHANG SHIFT HITTER

Of the 35 players in the American League who batted 300 or better last season, Wally Schang was the only regular among them who bats from either the left or right side of the plate.

BLUE MENTOR OPENS GRID THEORY CLASS

50 Prospective Gridmen to Attend Classes on Theory of Football

When the 1927 football season opens in the fall, Lawrence college gridiron hopes should be ready to step right into the actual work, rather than spend a time in learning fundamentals for a few weeks. Coach Mark S. Catlin's latest grid idea will get underway next week when about 50 prospective Blue gridmen become students in a class in the theory of football, taught by the veteran Lawrence mentor. The class will meet once a week for two hours.

Catlin hopes through this class to teach knowledge of the gridiron game to a large number of candidates in preparation for his next fall's program on the field. Should the course be successful the Blue mentor figures that at least a week and probably more of the time usually spent in preliminary lessons will be cancelled, giving the local collegians a jump on their rivals in more actual football earlier in the year. Rules, fundamentals of blocking, tackling, passing, kicking and all other matters so valuable to a grid squad, are on the program for the classes.

It is easy to see the natural advantage gained by having a tall center who has the knack of utilizing his reach. It is from the jump at center that most plays are started, so it is important to a strong offense that the center get the better of the line, for unless you get the "tap" these plays cannot be started.

I rate strong legs the second most important part of a good center.

A. L. CLUB OWNERS MEET TO HELP BAN

Prexy Will Tell Landis Why He Wanted Cobb and Speaker to Resign

SHOULD OVERHAUL TYPEWRITERS EACH YEAR, SAYS EXPERT

Machine Needs as Much Attention as Automobile or Radio

"Typewriters that are used every day should be completely overhauled once a year by an expert repairman," says A. M. Nelson, manager of the Nelson Typewriter Sales and Service company, 109 W. Appleton-st. Spector building. Typewriters not used every day should be given a complete examination once a year, he advises.

"To get the best possible service from any typewriter, the machine requires as much attention as an automobile or radio," he said. "Various parts must be oiled and cleaning brushes should be used at least once a week to remove dust which has gathered in the crooks and crannies of the machine."

It is impossible to give a set rule in regard to oiling a typewriter because various makes require different attention. But, Nelson says, the customer should demand that the sales company give a complete lesson on the care of the machine, according to Mr. Nelson. All typewriters should be covered when not in use to prevent dust from settling in the delicate mechanism.

While oiling a typewriter is essential, only the best grade of lubricant oil should be used and that sparingly, according to Mr. Nelson. In using a machine the typist should always carefully follow instructions. One of the most important features of overhauling a machine is the washing of the entire mechanism. Unless the repairman is careful the machine will rust. The Nelson company recently installed an electric oven into which all parts of the machine are placed as soon as they are washed. The oven dries the parts thoroughly and eliminates all danger of rust. The inside parts are washed in a chemical solution.

The Nelson Typewriter company furnishes a service machine to those desiring it part of the time their own machine is being overhauled.

REBOUND IN STEEL BUSINESS IS SLOW

Activity Increases but Fails to Come Up to Expectations

Cleveland, O.—IRON TRADE REVIEW says:

In point of inquiry, new business and shipments finished steel still shows modest improvement over December but the rebound since the holiday and inventory season has not come up to expectations. Producers have become noticeably keener for tonnage and the resulting sharper competitive situation has unstated prices. Concessions of several dollars a ton, commanded by attractive business, have become more general.

Prices, in fact, dominate the week's market developments. Steel bars and structural shapes, heretofore held at 2.00 cents, Pittsburgh, are more easily had at 1.90 cents. Plates at 1.90 cents are none too strong. Galvanized and blue annealed sheets have surrendered an additional $2, now having the general minimum of 2.75 cents and 2.20 cents respectively but with still less having been done; prices in other districts have been proportionally sensitive. Automobile sheets have weakened $2, to 4.15 cents. Hot strip steel makers in the Pittsburgh district have dropped several dollars to meet competition and have adjusted contracts.

Finished steel production this week is averaging not much over 70 per cent for the entire industry, or fully 10 per cent below last January, but no particularly bad spots have developed. A year ago, as now, the automotive industry was maneuvering for lower prices and getting under way more slowly than had been anticipated. Awards of freight cuts thru last January were over 10 per cent greater than in last January, and inquiry is larger. "In plate, steel pipe, rails and track fastening business is at least on a parity with this time last year. Consumers on the whole appear more inclined to wait out the market than was the case last January."

By way of contrast pig iron is a shade stronger in the Mahoning valley. This reflects the decision of Conneville coke operators not to reduce wages at this time, and the consequent abandonment of hope for a downward adjustment in coke prices. Some furnaces are asking $19 for foundry and malleable iron, or 50 cents higher.

The first show of real interest in 1927 Lake Superior iron ore requirements has come from three steel mills in the West. Certain interests who have begun negotiating long-term contracts at Cleveland. The combined annual ore consumption of these five inquiries is about 1,000,000 tons. For the seventh consecutive week, IRON TRADE REVIEW composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products has registered a loss, due to further weakness in sheets and finished steel. This index stands at $37.47 this week, compared with $37.73 last week and $38.46 in the first week of December when the present recession began.

MOVES WITH BUSINESS
"Twenty years ago, when I had one of my barometers to go by, there was never much uncertainty about the status of pig iron production. It was either setting up new records or a pace that could not long be maintained or was flat on its back and could only look upward. In the last two or three years, the industry has been more stable, but not necessarily permanently so. This stability may have come from hand-to-mouth buying. At the same time, declines in business have brought declines in steel demand. The easiest way to get an idea of the outlook for steel for

Minor Recession In Steel Industry Seen By Babson

Babson Park, Pa.—In view of recent developments Roger W. Babson was asked his opinion of the future of the steel industry. He discusses this industry as follows:

"The nationwide publicity in connection with the U. S. Steel stock dividend has got everybody interested in steel. It is of course silly to say, as so many have declared that this stock dividend has suddenly increased the wealth of stockholders. The improvement has been going on for a number of years as all students of the situation have constantly pointed out. While I am very bullish on the industry over a term of years, it must be recognized that it is one of the most sensitive to expanding or contracting business conditions. Just at present, business seems to be slowing down and while this may prove a minor recession, 1927 can hardly establish the many new high records which were made in 1926. Taking the independents and the U. S. Steel Corporation together, profits will show a tendency to decline.

1926 STEEL PRODUCTION
"Steel production in 1926 touched a high water mark of 47,132,517 tons—7 per cent higher than 1925, which in turn was 20 per cent over 1924. Looking back over the past twenty-five years, there are many similar cases of two successive increases but never has the steel industry been able to show increases three years in succession. The heaviest production for 1926 was in March, with 4,488,000 tons, and the year closed with December showing the lowest, 3,472,000 tons. The high rate of production maintained itself in the year as a whole, more than equaling incoming business and unfilled tonnage of the Steel Corporation, which was 5,033,364 tons on the first day of January, 1926, closed the year at 3,961,000 tons—not very far from the November 30 figure of 3,807,000 tons.

"Iron production of 39,100,000 tons did better than in 1925 and nearly equaled the previous high point of 40,053,000 tons in 1923. It is well known that the capacity of the iron and steel industry is too large for our needs and when it reaches 55 per cent or 60 per cent of capacity there is a choice between cutting prices or reducing output. In 1923, it was estimated that steel producing capacity was about 55,000,000 tons, which is 25 per cent larger than the record output of 1926. With iron production, the number of furnaces in blast gives a method of estimating excess producing capacity. Taking the number that have been able to operate, averaging good years and bad, we find it at 60 per cent. With 1925 and 1926 both years of good business, the iron industry has operated above 60 per cent only for a month or two in the spring of each year. I think it a safe assumption that we have 40 per cent excess production capacity pig iron.

"PRICE OUTLOOK
This excess capacity is not confined to iron and steel but is true of almost every business. It partially explains the decline in commodity prices in 1926, something which hardly ever occurs during a prosperous business period. Iron and steel prices have been no exception, declining in the past year with other basic industrial materials. Earning statements for the first nine months of 1926 showed a net of $41,000,000—a gain of 28 per cent over 1925—and clearly proved that the secret rests in the fact that the steel industry is usually successful in working out methods to lower its costs of production.

NOT CHANGING IMMEDIATELY
"There are a number of factors confronting the steel industry which may cause radical changes in the next twenty years. In a fully developed industry, a new method is so overwhelmed by the mass of material made under previous methods that it takes a long time before it becomes apparent to everyone.

The greatest enemy of iron and steel is rust, the industry accounting for a loss estimated as high as 25,000,000 tons a year, and represents a greater waste than all other industrial wastes combined. I feel sure that a way of making rustproof iron and steel at a price even under present costs will eventually be perfected.

"A second influence which will bring changes in the steel industry is the great developments taking place in non-ferrous metal alloys. These will be sure to displace a portion of steel tonnage. Chromium, which I recently investigated, has great possibilities. The world's largest producer of steel has started the erection of a plant at Lorain, Ohio, which will use a process which eliminates the blast furnace.

"The turning toward better products by the industry hasn't been entirely voluntary. The competition of competing alloys is one reason, while the trained purchasing agent with his laboratory for analyzing and testing is also demanding better materials. Such changes as these all point to changes in the iron and steel industry which every purchaser of the commodity or securities should constantly keep in mind. We are in a world of progress. Things have never moved so swiftly, and steel, with its important position in America's industry, will be in the forefront.

1926 IS RECORD YEAR IN CONSTRUCTION WORK
The year 1926 was the greatest year in regard to building activities that the state of Wisconsin has known in its history, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. Construction contracts awarded in the state during 1926 amounted to $117,197,700. Compared with total 1925 contracts amounting to $96,304,300, there was an increase of 22 per cent.

Wisconsin had $11,543,400 in contracts for new building and engineering work during 1926. The above figure exceeded November 1926 by 12 per cent and December, of 1925 by 125 per cent.

Included in last month's building record for the state were: $8,271,400, or 72 per cent of all construction, for residential buildings; $1,277,000, or 11 per cent, for special and recreational projects; $818,700, or 7 per cent, for educational buildings; $423,600 or 4 per cent for public works and utilities; $332,500, or 3 per cent, for commercial buildings; and $280,000, or 2 per cent, for industrial buildings.

THIEVES MAKE DUKE'S NIGHT LIFE EXPENSIVE
Paris, (AP)—The Grand Duke Boris, one of the contenders for the Russian throne, seems to like staying up most of the night. The grand duke, however, finds night life more expensive than most. Robbers have a habit of entering his country estate near Versailles when he stays out late.

Several times this year intruders have entered the grand duke's villa during his nocturnal absences. On the latest occasion an intruder was frightened away by Boris' mother-in-law, who was in the mansion at the time. The intruder later the grand duke and grand duchess returned from a party in Paris.

Boris is the brother of the Grand Duke Cyril, chief of those who would be king. They are cousins of the late czar.

CHARLESTON KNEE AND JAZZ THROAT NEW ILLS
London, (AP)—Many habitual diners in public places in the west end are suffering from an attack of "jazz throat" and suffer so badly from hoarseness that they have to be medically treated. This, says a throat specialist, is caused through attempting to carry on a lively conversation during meals through the din of modern dance music.

And then over on Harley-st. the "Charleston knee" is a new ailment occupying the attention of specialists. Numbers of girls are now going about with bandaged knees because of ligaments strained doing the dance for long periods when unaccustomed to the intricate and unnatural side wave.

FIREMAN IS HEIR
Toronto—A fireman in a pumping station here has just been named beneficiary of $2,000,000. The man, John James, rescued a girl baby when the Titanic sank in 1912. He has been given the guardianship of the girl and left the sum named by the girl's grandfather, who lives in England.

LEADING CITIZENS FORMED NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY

Organization Completed When Eastern Firms Left State

When the eastern insurance companies withdrew from Wisconsin in 1907 following investigations by Charles Evans Hughes, who disclosed many irregularities in their business dealings, leading citizens of the state formed the Wisconsin National Life Insurance company of Oshkosh. This company is represented in Appleton by W. Vanderheyden, 409 W. College-ave, who has been in the insurance business for 25 years.

Citizens who helped to form this company as a means for helping the state and cities to build public buildings and good highways, and they recognized the need of some agency where this money could be obtained as needed.

Under the strict supervision of the Wisconsin Insurance department, the Wisconsin National Life Insurance company cannot invest any of its money in stocks of any kind. Only municipal and state bonds can be purchased and for this reason the ledger company is strong financially. It is pointed out.

The 1925 compilation of the American Underwriters Pocket Chart showed that the Wisconsin Life Insurance company after $100,000 of total assets for each $100 of liability not considering capital stock. The Badger company headed a list of 10 companies recorded. The average for 251 companies was $111 which is $11 less than the figure of the Oshkosh company.

A $250,000 office building, recently completed, will be occupied next month, according to Mr. Vanderheyden.

The company also claims to pay its death benefits within as short a time as possible. Some cases are on record where a claim has been within two hours after the death of the insured.

Several Appleton persons are stockholders in this company.

SOFTWOOD LUMBER MARKET IS SLOW

Inclement Weather Keeps Volume Somewhat Below Expectations

In its review of the current lumber trade situation the American Lumberman, Chicago says:

There has not been a great deal of activity in the softwood market during the last week. The weather in many sections has been so inclement that volume is below expectations, though reports as a rule say that gains are being made. Sellers are much encouraged by the heavy inquiry, from industrial users especially. It finds little change in the market from a price standpoint. The mills seem to have been unable so far to advance their quotations above recent low levels, for with consumption seasonably slow they have been seeking orders for immediate shipment. But they are unwilling to accept at current figures, more business than will carry them over the next few weeks.

Total softwood production was about twenty-five per cent below normal during the week ended Jan. 8. Bookings were practically equal to it. Output is likely to gain a little, but it is not probable that it will exceed normal business. West Coast mills cut about ten per cent less than before the holidays. While some of the fir mills have been increasing production, others will be shutting down this month for their annual overhauling. Fir sales for the week amounted to three per cent above production, as rail trade showed a remarkable revival. Southern pine production of large mills was about ten per cent below what it usually runs, but the smaller, non-reporting mills are to a large extent inactive, partly because of bad weather and partly because the present market is unattractive to these high-cost producers. When the lowness of buyers' stock is taken into consideration, with the fact that the softwood mills have no accumulations and are selling about enough to offset production, it will be seen that there is reason to expect a stronger market when the yards begin buying for spring needs, as soon they move.

High furniture and automobile manufacturers tend to defer hardwood purchase until they have made plans based on the results of their recent national shows, orders exceeded production during the week ended Jan. 8. These two groups, with the building trades interests, are expected to increase their purchases greatly within the next few weeks, and there is every prospect of improvement in foreign business also.

SOME FICTION OF 1863 STILL SHOWN POPULAR
New York, (AP)—Despite changing tastes popular fiction of several decades ago still has a ready sale, records of the publishers show.

Books that still are in demand among a new generation of readers include the "Elsie Dinsmore" stories by Martha Finley, the first of which was published in 1863. Two carloads of them were sold last year, says the publisher.

Other favorites of the past that have escaped literary oblivion, and their copyright date, include Amelia L. Barr's "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," 1884 and "The Belle of Bowling Green," 1893; Anna Katharine Green's "Land and Mine," 1885; Paul Leicester Ford's "Janice Meredith," 1899, and Carolyn Wells' "Patty Fairfield" books, first published in 1901.

SAYS WATERFRONT BOY LURED WATCHING SEA

New Orleans, (AP)—Boys who watch ships go down to sea develop into men who go down to the sea in ships.

So a survey of Orleans Parish public schools has revealed to Miss Emma Pritchard Cooley, director of vocational guidance.

Boys living along the waterfront, or attending schools near the river, from whose windows they could watch seagoing vessels on the Mississippi escorted by tugs, showed a decided tendency toward nautical. Pursuits, Miss Cooley found.

The survey revealed, she said, that environment to a considerable degree is the deciding factor in determining what occupation a boy will select.

NEW LONDON CAGERS WIN FROM SEYMOUR H. S. SQUAD, 35-21

Short Passing Attack of Red and White Too Much for Visiting Team

New London — The New London high school basketball team defeated the Seymour squad 35 to 21 Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. The game started at a fast pace and continued so until the end in spite of the fact that the home boys' offensive and defensive game was ragged at times.

New London's short passing attack proved too much for the Seymour team which relied mostly on long shots. Ness, visiting center, caged three beautiful throws from the center of the floor. Seymour's attack was built about Ness, but it was very seldom that he could break through Kischio or Beckert, the Red and White guards. Cooley, the local center, made one long shot from the middle of the floor and three goals from under the basket. Dernbach, the Red and White forward, proved the star of the evening by making seven baskets and one free throw. His running mate, Hietzer, caged four goals.

New London opened the scoring in the first half with Dernbach and Cooley making baskets. Netzer also made a nice toss from under the basket with two of the Seymour team guarding him. The half ended 22 to 12 with New London in the lead.

VOTE AGAINST SALE OF PHONE EXCHANGE

Royalton Telephone Company to Continue Business as Separate Concern

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Royalton Telephone company, held at Northport, it was decided that the company would not sell the exchange to the Wisconsin Telephone company. The company, organized 15 years ago has 32 stockholders and subscribers. Assessments will be levied for necessary repairs and the purchase of new material and equipment. H. C. Walker was elected as president of the company to succeed John Wuske, who recently moved to Milwaukee.

SON IDENTIFIES ONE OF 3 BANDITS WHO KILLED HIS MOTHER

Three Greasy Fingermarks on Hat of Captured Man Help Officials

New London — Lying by the side of his dead mother, who had been killed by a volley of shots fired from the guns of two masked bandits a nine year old boy was able to retain enough of the details of the murder later to identify one of the men. The kid, who was with his mother when the men gave the command "hands up" was thrown to the floor when the men began firing.

At the autopsy held over the body of the slain woman, it was found that bullets of two calibers were lodged in her body. A slanting shot entered behind the left ear and penetrated the brain, while others were in her wrists, her heart and abdomen.

The man captured was identified by the dead woman's son by three greasy finger marks upon the hat he wore. He was one of three men who had been about the garage for several days previous to the murder.

According to Mr. Monty, the two entered the garage masked driving before them a neighbor whom they had met and robbed on the street outside. Mr. Monty is unable to give a natural sequence of the events following, but states that when he attempted to go to his wife's aid one bandit produced him with a gun and commanded him to keep on looking for the money which was believed to be secured.

Telegrams from the Texas town since the murder point to a feeling of mob spirit in the citizens. Mr. Monty states that so many outrages have been perpetrated against Texas women of late that there is high feeling here at the present time.

Strong and Active Low-priced Merger Rails Provide Out- standing Feature

Strength and activity were apparent in the closing, several of which sold at their highest prices in years, was the outstanding feature of the session. The volume for a half holiday session. The closing was firm. Total sales approximately $1,000,000.

Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of the market. The leadership was in oil-prices, rails, under the stimulation of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Common which touched new highs. Western Maryland, Pittsburgh, and Virginia, was accentuated by unconfirmed rumors of merger negotiations. The market for the day was characterized that gain of 2½ points in Remington Typewriter was offset by a drop of 1½ in the Erie.

MORE IRREGULARITIES

Further irregularities developed as the session progressed, but the demand for rails overshadowed all other developments. Pittsburgh and Western Maryland were up 1½ points before the end of the first hour, and Western Maryland Common to 43, and Erie to 42½. The market was settling a point or so higher. New Haven was again under heavy pressure, dropping 1½ points to 34½ points. Resumption of brisk buying of Pressed Steel car sent that stock up to 46 1/2, the highest price in about a year. The price dropped, however, to 45 1/2 in General Motors, Hudson and Baldwin. Foreign exchange changes added to the list, the dollar sterling quoted just under 4.85 and French francs around 3.95 cents.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK JANUARY 17th TO 23rd INCLUSIVE

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

—TODAY IS "OWN YOUR OWN HOME DAY"—

You Will Enjoy Your Home From The Very Beginning

You Will Enjoy Your Home In Later Years

"The Home Owners of a Nation Form The Backbone of Its Citizenry"

IN the observance of National Thrift Week, it is fitting that one day should be set aside as "Own Your Own Home Day." For of all the reasons advanced in the Own Your Own Home movement, perhaps the foremost and most practical is its sound economic basis. No man is thrifty if he goes on expending, year after year, a great portion of his income without receiving lasting benefit from it.

IF on the other hand, he makes the same expenditures, but at the end of a period of years has a visible, tangible asset—a home—he has been both thrifty and economical. For in purchasing his own home he is following another precept of Thrift Week—he is making a safe investment. A safe investment—but it pays a high rate of interest. Happiness, Security, Comfort and Safety for one's family cannot be measured in monetary terms, but they are valued by the thrifty man above anything else in his power to obtain.

TODAY any man who properly budgets his income can afford to own his home. There is plenty of assistance at hand—the world is willing and anxious to help him achieve that worthy end. In one way or another, all the organizations and individuals listed below stand ready to help you own your home. Advice and assistance are yours for the asking!
